

PageMaker 4 : An Active-learning Approach

T. Waters

Making no assumption of computing or publishing knowledge, this book is aimed at students on a wide variety of courses who want to know how to use Macintosh or PC versions of PageMaker 4 (4.0 to 4.2, inclusive), whether they need only a grasp of the basics of desktop publishing with PageMaker or a mastery of its advanced facilities. The learning material requires minimal, if any, input by lecturers, and is recommended for student self-instruction. Where publishing or computing jargon is used, the meaning is explained in laymans terms.
